

Rachel Crossland
00086684
Asg 1

- 1) We get an error in the first function because we are doing an array delete which deletes the array we are trying to access.
- 2) We get an error in the second function because just like the first function we are deleting the array we are referencing.
- 3) The error is that the third function is supposed to return a pointer to an array but instead we returned an array.